Biobased bottles

Made from biobased material derived from sugarcane. Instead of using fossil resources, we use plant-based raw materials, reducing the environmental impact.

During its growth, sugarcane absorbs CO₂ from the air, making this bottle a more sustainable choice without compromising on quality or performance.

Biodegradable bottles

The Shiva Bio looks and performs like a standard bottle, but with an important difference. An organic additive in the material helps accelerate the biodegradation process under specific conditions.

Tested according to ASTM D5511 standards, this bottle maintains its strength and quality during use, while offering a more sustainable end-of-life solution.
